What Types of Interview are There?

If you've not had an interview for a while, it's worth knowing that organisations use different types of interview for different types of job. Some of the most common are:

Types Of Interview-Part I

B2 – C1
Module 1

© Albert-Learning

Summary

Here's What We Will Be Learning:

- ❑ Job Interviews.
- ❑ Types of Job Interviews.
- ❑ Closure.
- ❑ Exercises.

© Albert-Learning

VOCABULARY

Warrant: to make a particular activity necessary.

Subtle: achieved in a quiet way that does not attract attention to itself and is therefore good or clever.

Rant: to speak or shout in a loud, uncontrolled, or angry way, often saying confused or silly things.

Gusto: enjoyment and enthusiasm in doing something.

© Albert-Learning