

Computers

What is a computer?

Hello, I am Tina and this is my computer.

Let us learn about computers today.

It is a machine that is both electronic and digital.

Computers are electronic devices that accept data (input), process it, produce output, and store (storage) the results.

A computer is composed of hardware and software.

