

Computers

What is a computer?

Hello, I am Tina and this is my computer.

Let us learn about computers today.

Computers are electronic devices that accept data (input), process it, produce output, and store (storage) the results.

It is a machine that is both electronic and digital.

A computer is composed of hardware and software.

