

Either vs Neither

EITHER

VS

NEITHER

Either / or

Either / or: is used in a sentence when referring to a choice between two possibilities.

Examples:

- ❖ You can either call me at home or at the office.
- ❖ Either mum or dad will come to pick you up.

Other uses of Either / Or

- Either can also be followed by (one) of + group of two i.e. you can use either of with a plural noun / pronouns

Examples:

- Either of us could do it (Either one of us could do it)
- I don't know either of them very well.
- There was no sound from either of the rooms.

- Not... either... or denies both possibilities:

Examples:

- I don't think either Mike or Lisa will be there.
- He doesn't speak either English or French.