Vocabulary

Seamless: with no spaces or pauses between one part and the next.

Expedient: an action that is useful or necessary for a particular purpose, but not always fair or right. (For example: The disease was controlled by the simple expedient of not allowing anyone to leave the city.)

Afloat: (of a business, etc.) having enough money to pay debts; able to survive.

Turn your nose up (idiom): to not accept something because you do not think it is good enough for you. (For example: They turned their noses up at the only hotel that was available.)

Symbiotic: used to describe a relationship between people, companies, etc. that is to the advantage of both.
