What Are Adjectives?

Adjectives are words that describe nouns.
Eg: enormous, doglike, silly, yellow, fun, fast.

They can also describe the quantity of nouns.
Eg: many, few, millions, eleven.

Adjectives Modify Nouns

1. Adjectives are often called "describing words" because they give us further details about a noun.

2. Adjectives do not modify verbs or other adjectives.

3. Most often, adjectives are easy to identify in a sentence because they fall right before the nouns they modify.

Examples:

1. I like the white horse.
2. The three boys were playing basketball.
3. She saw the last house in the lane.
