

Industrial Relations

Vocabulary

Sphere: a subject or area of knowledge, work, etc.

Curb: to control or limit something that is not wanted.

Lockout: an occasion when an employer prevents workers from entering their place of work until they agree to particular conditions.

Deliberation: considering or discussing something.

Boosts: to improve or increase something.

Introduction

What are industrial relations?

The relations of an individual or group of employees and employers interacting among themselves, in a way to maximize productive activities is often described as industrial relations.

