

Interview Presentation

Vocabulary

Panel: a small group of people brought together to investigate or decide on a particular matter.

Tailor: to make or adapt for a particular purpose or person.

Lack: to be without or deficient in something.

Contingency plan: a plan designed to take account of a possible future event or circumstance.

Beforehand: before an action or event; in advance.

Rehearse: to practise (a play, piece of music, or other work) for later public performance.

Fidget: to make small movements, especially of the hands and feet, through nervousness or impatience.

Nerve-wracking: causing stress or anxiety.

Know Your Audience

Getting to know the interview panel is one of the best things you can do before any interview. You should make an effort to find out exactly who is going to be on the panel, watching your presentation. Then tailor your presentation to those people.

For example, if a company's CFO is on the interview panel, it's a pretty good idea to include some financial information in your presentation, or to at least be able to answer some financial questions that a CFO is likely to ask you.
