Cosmetic Surgery Risk

Vocabulary

1. Sands down- to make something smooth by rubbing it with something rough, especially sandpaper.
   (In this context it is used to describe the smoothening process of skin)

2. In one sitting- during one limited period of time, without stopping.

3. Contours- the shape of a mass of land or other object, especially its surface or the shape formed by its outer edge.

4. Concomitant- something that happens with something else and is connected with it.

5. Brush sth off- to refuse to listen to what someone says, or to refuse to think about something seriously

Introduction

Cosmetic surgery is a section of plastic surgery which aims to enhance a person's appearance, but it should be approached with caution.

Procedures are available for almost any part of the body and can be performed on all areas of the head, neck etc. However, the choice to undergo cosmetic surgery should not be taken lightly. The results are often irreversible, so it is absolutely imperative to be certain about the decision, to use an appropriate practitioner, and to have the right motivation.

Cosmetic surgery continues to grow in popularity, with millions of surgeries being carried out every year.